

National Coalition for Literacy

2017 NCL Literacy Leadership Awards Nominations Solicitation

Event date: First week of October 2017

The National Coalition for Literacy is seeking nominations for its annual Literacy Leadership Awards. These awards recognize individuals and organizations whose contributions to the field of adult education and literacy are national in scope or have national significance.

Nominees may be public policy advocates or policy makers, elected officials, program administrators, instructors (paid or volunteer), financial supporters, business leaders, partners, or students. Federal agencies and private sector programs are also eligible, as are state and local initiatives that have received notable national attention or been widely recognized as models for the field. For information on previous award recipients, visit national-coalition-literacy.org/literacy-leadership-awards/

Nomination forms (see next page) are due by September 8 (International Literacy Day) to Deborah Kennedy: deborah.kennedy@key-words.us. Award winners will be notified by September 15, and the awards event will be held on Capitol Hill during the first week of October 2017. As needed and by request, assistance may be available to offset the cost of travel to Washington, DC.
